ЕУ – партнери: Universidad De Leon, Шпанија Universidade Do Porto, Португал Universitaet Paderborn, Немачка University of Split, Хрватска Uniwersytet Ekonomiczny w Katowicach, Пољска Univerza v Ljubljani, Словенија Chimikotehnologichen i Metalurgichen Universitet, Бугарска	Кратак опис пројекта: Europe 2020 stresses the need of achieving a smart and inclusive economy in the continent. Today environmental and development challenges are linked both in the EU and WB area. Globalisation and fast technological development are rapidly changing the landscape of higher education. The digital agenda is inevitably at the heart of many EU policies and few could deny that new technologies play a crucial role in societal advancement and in opening new employment possibilities for graduates. The Green-Tech WB EM project will give its 20 full partners and 27 associated members, from 10 different EU countries the opportunity to work in a wider European framework, and in a broader international context. Our mobility plan that includes 153 undergraduate, master, PhD, post-doctorate and staff grants (28 for Europeans and 125 for WB) under target group 1, 2 & 3 is designed around the triangle: cooperation in higher education, research and innovation and under the umbrella of the thematic field GREEN TECH. This proposal promotes European HEIs as centres of excellence in learning and research around GREEN TECH and drives this excellence to multi-ethnic Western Balkan countries to contribute to their better governance and social cohesion, and further connect the region to the global economy.

The partners are distributed all over the Western Balkans and cover a great variety of fields of study, although the project, being strictly connected with the reinforcement of the Uniadriion network, will focus on the main fields of interest already shared by the network's members: protection, cataloguing and promotion of cultural heritage; environment and sustainable development; cultural tourism and development; communication, ports and economic relations. The aim of the project in the short to medium term is to strengthen and consolidate academic cooperation among Higher Education Institutions of the Adriatic-Ionian area. The network of relations to be created thanks to mobility flows will represent the academic and cultural infrastructure of the future Adriatic-Ionian Macro-region, whose strategy is being developed by the European Commission upon mandate of the European Council and whose establishment will become effective by the end of 2014. The long-term target of the project is to establish a platform for sharing educational paths in order to implement joint programmes for the awarding of joint titles among the universities in the countries of the area. In addition to that, the mobility of researchers will enable the exchange of expertise and the identification of research areas of common interest, which the scientific resources of the area should be invested in, with the purpose of creating an adequate scientific background for the Adriatic-Ionian Macro-region.

These aims will be achieved not only through exposing students, researchers, academic and administrative staff to studies, research and training in other European countries, but also through accompanying initiatives, such as workshops, webinars or conferences. As the title of the project promises, the focus will be on the development of critical skills necessary for functioning in the knowledge-based society and increasing chances for success on the labour market. One of the characteristics of SIGMA Agile will be inclusion of students and alumni in the project activities, such as a conference organized by the scholarship holders themselves. Following Agile manifesto, the partnership will be enhancing effective interactions among the partners, scholarship holders, alumni, policy makers, local authorities, other Erasmus Mundus partnerships, NGO's, and other stakeholders. It will be using effective project management tools and techniques and quality measures. It will be actively responding to the dynamics of the region. EM A2 SIGMA Agile will be built upon the tangible achievements of the ongoing project, but will add substantial value to it and surge up to capitalize the multiplier effects together with other partnerships and other organizations. By supporting talents and developing hard, transferable skills for employment, SIGMA Agile will fight brain-drain. It will further facilitate social inclusion (for example, students of Roma origin or IDP), cross-cultural understanding, and human capital building in the region. In a wider perspective, SIGMA Agile will positively affect innovation, employability, sustainable growth, stability, and peace in the Western Balkans.
